“The Art of Therapy!”

OVERVIEW OF SEGAL ARTS AND THE GENERAL IMPORTANCE AND RISING POPULARITY OF USING ARTS IN A HEALTHCARE SETTING.

Discussion of the foundation of Segal arts and similar type practice.

Benefits and trends in using arts in healthcare setting.

DISCUSSION OF THE 3 MAIN AREAS OF CARE: SEGAL ARTS AND THE PATIENT

Overview of the 3 main areas of focus for our specific patient/client: social and emotional, cognitive and physical.

Importance of addressing all 3 areas, specifically as it applies to an Adult Day Setting.

THE CARE TEAM THE WHOLE TEAM

Integration of art based therapeutic occupations into daily life: the relationship with the care team, including the primary care physician, facility team and staff and family member.

TRANSITION/ CARRY OVER OF CARE

Benefits and specific examples, using real case studies in discussing the varieties of benefits of our programming and how it translates into activities of daily life in building emotional connections, physical improvements and overall quality of care.

WHAT DO WE DO EXACTLY?

In this section, we will discuss the types of interventions used by the Segal Arts team, techniques and methods of modification of a task, as well as any adaptive equipment we may use.

We will discuss in detail the types of materials used by our therapists, and the reason they use them. The concept of “method to the madness” when working in the field with clients; the ability to adapt, modify, change, accommodate and meet the specific individual needs of every client while also meeting the goals for group therapy as a whole.

Using specific techniques paired with full body movement, exercises, warm ups, breathing techniques and even elements of reiki, our therapists are able to provide a full body program that targets specifically on upper extremity physically, but address the individual as a whole.

MEETING THE NEEDS OF THE MEMORY CARE PATIENT

Discussion of the memory care patient: what are the varieties of needs for this specific client, particularly in an adult day care setting?

In this section, we will discuss how Segal Arts specifically creates a productive, meaningful and welcoming environment for the memory care client.

We will go over specific techniques used by our team including emotional support, reassurance, and modifying the project specifically for the memory care client. We will use specific case studies from our practice to use as examples.

ADMINISTRATIVE: HOW DOES IT WORK?
